

In order to ensure the health and diversity of the arts, social commentary, and freedom of individual expression I implore you to NOT relax any rules preventing conglomerates from monopolizing media (even more than they already do, that is).